Mountmellick Embroidery

da: Vetty Creations

Modello: LIBDD-VC-ME

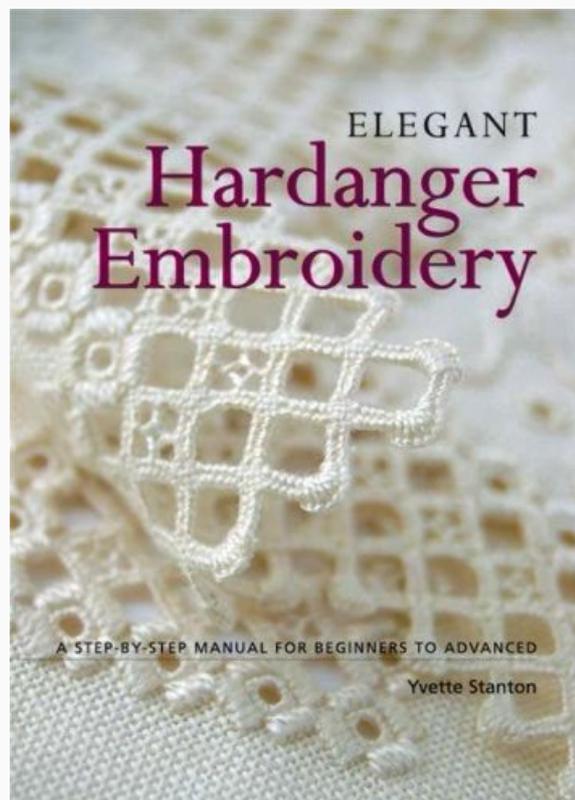

Mountmellick Embroidery: Inspired by Nature
Mountmellick Embroidery is highly textured floral whitework embroidery that was first developed around 1825. While it is sometimes referred to as Montmellick, Mt Mellick, Mountmellic, or even Montmellic, Mountmellick is the correct spelling as it is taken from the name of the town Mountmellick in County Laois (pronounced leash) in Ireland. It employs highly textured stitching to depict the plants and flowers that grew around the town. It uses white thread on white fabric, and has a characteristic knitted fringe that edges the work. This fully revised and expanded, full color, step-by-step guide with over 600 clear diagrams and photos, will lead you from beginner to advanced Mountmellick stitcher.

Early-Style Hardanger

da: Vetty Creations

Modello: LIBDD-VC-ESH

Early-style Hardanger is not often seen outside of Norway, but is quite distinct from contemporary Hardanger. This historical style of embroidery has traditionally been used on the women's clothing in the Hardangerfjord region, and was designed to imitate needle-made lace of the 1600's and 1700's. Yvette provides 10 varied projects with a range of contemporary applications, including a blouse with embroidered cuffs and collar, soft furnishings for the home, table linen, and small articles suitable to give as gifts. The left and right handed step-by-step stitch and technique instructions are easy to follow. Author Yvette Stanton (publisher and designer behind Vetty Creations).
